March 27, 2024

Dear

Congratulations and welcome to Vanderbilt University! You have been admitted to Vanderbilt's College of Arts and Science as a member of the Class of 2028. We are thrilled to invite you to join a remarkable group of students who were selected from an exceptionally talented applicant pool.

Vanderbilt's culture of innovation and discovery relies on every student contributing their abilities and perspectives and working together to solve the world's most complex problems. Your significant achievements inside and outside of the classroom will undoubtedly contribute to that shared mission. Whether you dive deeper into a current passion or explore new pursuits, you'll be encouraged to challenge yourself and reach your potential. From your first day on campus through graduation and beyond, Vanderbilt will support you in a collaborative community that includes students and faculty from across the country and around the world.

To take the next steps and learn more about life as a Vanderbilt student, review the information in your admitted student packet and register for our admitted student programs on your MyAppVU portal (vu.edu/myappvu). We invite you to join us in Nashville for on-campus programs to meet other admitted students and discover why you belong here. In addition, we host online events for admitted students and Vanderbilt and You receptions in cities around the world. Finally, we encourage you to join the Vanderbilt community for admitted students on ZeeMee.

To secure your place in the Class of 2028, please click "Claim Your Spot" on your MyAppVU portal. Complete the short form for admitted students and submit the $400 non-refundable matriculation deposit by May 1. This deposit will be credited to your student account. In addition, you are expected to decline all other offers of admission. Please note that your enrollment at Vanderbilt is contingent upon the successful completion of your current academic program with a level of academic performance and good citizenship commensurate with your current level of achievement.

On behalf of the entire Vanderbilt community, I congratulate you on your admission. We look forward to hearing from you soon!

Sincerely,
